As junior doctors prepare to take action against new contracts...

Save our NHS: Back junior doctors' strikes

JUNIOR DOCTORS are set to strike for five days from 5 October against dangerous new contracts imposed by Tory Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt.

The strike is all about whether we have a safe NHS or lives are put at risk.

Hunt and Co have tried to attack the junior doctors for taking action.

They have been called "militants" and branded as greedy. This is a disgrace.

Trade union leaders Mark Serwotka and Dave Ward have called for a day of action and a national demonstration to support the junior doctors and defend our NHS.

We support that call and pledge our support for the junior doctors' fight to defend our NHS.
