

Breaking into Fortress Europe: migrants climb over a fence dividing Morocco and the Spanish enclave of Melilla

Why socialists oppose all borders

Day & time:

Venue:

Our rulers want us to believe that immigrants are a problem. They want us to believe that they will be a drain on our society – that they will take our jobs and our homes and even our benefits!

This vicious scapegoating has tragic consequences for millions of people who are trying to flee persecution, or seek a better life. As socialists we argue that ‘workers have no country’ and that we should be free to travel around the world wherever we want. Is this utopian nonsense? What would happen if we scrapped all borders and immigration controls?
